- Be direct; Do not be afraid to use the word "suicide."
- Gather more information using open-ended questions such as, "How long have you been feeling this way?"
- Validate the patient's feelings.
- Do not try to cheer them up.
- Let them talk and be an active listener.

magic of xmas

rb: i tried 2 hang w ppl yesterday and they brought up the 'magic of xmas' when ur a kid and then its shattered literally cant believe how many ppl need to still process this at this age

h: XD thats funny n surprising

rb: this and pop psychology shit abt recognizing patterns in the dating matrix what in my childhood lead me to choose men who are insert random adjective/some empowered response abt healthy patterns and then if u argue vs it ppl just get annoyed

h: everyone wants 2 cling to mechanistic xplanations for everything... n even that, only once each theory has been certified by sufficient popularity

rb: the xposure dulling my soul contrast sweet memories of kevin RIP kevin!
all gold

h: re xmas bein shattered, hrut just told me that in the 80s 'santa' was supposed to fly in a small plane over this holiday inn parking lot here and wave to the ppl but the plane crashed into the building and the ppl on board died in front of the crowd plane stunts r horrifying to me when covid started the catholic cardinal of louisiana flew over new orl to bless everyone rb: wtmotherfuckingshit !

he shoulda done a motorcycle over a ravine flaming hoop
the cardinal

household hacker pt. 1: flat bottom cones

h: im reading an inane 'household hacks' book by sb who was at least 70 yrs old at publication in, lets see, 1999 i xpected old timer treasure but instead is full of incoherently bad advice

g: omg i want sample bad advice h: 'you have egg salad for 10 but only enough bread for 5 sandwiches. instead of making sandwiches at all, serve the egg salad in flat bottomed ice cream cones. sprinkle a little paprika on top for an unexpected treat kids will love.'

g: WHAT

h: i l0ve 'household hacks' type shit but my expectations w this book went from 'il def learn tons of genius grandpa advice' to 'this just belongs in my zine'

g: which kids are loving this ? have they been starved for days prior

h: the cleaning advice is all dangerous and gross its an epic work of mid century senility put pantyhose and tinfoil on everything, hoard all oatmeal tubes give local kindergarten teacher a truckload of ur trash for repurposing they will LOVE this

g: love imagining this harried housewife like 'fuck, my garden party starts in 10min, and i only bought half a loaf of bread! good thing i have this box of flat bottomed ice cream cones.'

h: back of book real quote: 'throw out a candle stub, some sour milk, that leftover bag of cat litter? NOT ON YOUR LIFE!'

g: flat bottom cones u make the rockin world go round this kind of stuff is painful and irresistible both my stepmom wd get womens magazines and wed watch HGTV full of this stuff. it haunts me, a theoretical world of garden parties where ppl eat theoretical egg salad with theoretical friends and family they, in theory, enjoy

h: this whole thing s very alzheimers hypothetical wait! no dont throw out that pack of 'denture tablets' we'll...need... them.. some... day

My Interpretation

To me, it seems like it's about a child who becomes fascinated by the titular character in the 1950s show Lassie. The child desperately wants a Lassie of their own and decides to build their own "customized" dog out of parts harvested from dead insects.

hoskuld: sometimes it just seems so clear entire 'mental health' framework just a new means to surveille/literal police everyones affective response to misery, plus create new bogus market, plus do pretend help and deepen idea of science as reality and benevolent gunnhild: yeah... idk hoskuld it sounds like ur having a trauma response jklolol makes perfect sense w class analysis (tm) but ppl are driven insane trying to understand bc they dont have one bc education and media forbid it

You'll feel much better if you take some time to be alone, away from the hustle and bustle of your everyday life. It's important to know who we really are to be able to show our true self to others.
